The note, which the Trustees gave, to liquidate the long standing indebtedness, has been paid. The only outstanding debt now is a small claim by the late teacher of elocution, the amount of which is in dispute. This will be paid, as soon as satisfactorily adjusted. And, although the financial statement shows on its face a balance against the Academy, this is provided for. So now we are out of debt, and must keep out of debt. And to do this we need help from the town. Hampton could not have a High School, such as she now has, for three times the appropriation, were it not for the Academy. We have efficient teachers, and the school is doing good work. It has risen above difficulties, and has a grand future before it. The town takes pride in its schools, and it has good cause so to do. It has always generously responded to calls for aid; only asking how the money is expended, or why needed, and it has a right to know. Therefore we feel that the town will not be lacking, and that the needed appropriation will be granted.

School Report.

Our schools have made commendable progress during the past year. The same teachers have been employed as last year, with one exception—Miss Annie M. Page, who taught the North Primary School.

The teacher in the Grammar School has nobly sustained her well earned reputation, and the parents may well be pleased with the progress which the scholars have made during the school year. We also wish to call attention to the good work which has been done by the teachers in the Primary Schools, and the admirable progress which the scholars have made under their care.

During the past year Music has been introduced into the schools, and we feel well repaid with the work of both teacher and scholars. The Baldwin series of Readers have been used in the place of the old ones. The Historical Chart, in use in the Grammar School, has been a valuable source of information to all the pupils.

We would urge and advise the parents to visit the schools as often as possible, thus encouraging both teachers and scholars by their presence and interest in the school work.

CHARLES M. BATCHELDER, Chairman.
