Comments

This building has been altered and added-to many times in its history. The original building is now surrounded by modern motel units, but appears to be the 2nd peak to the right of the flag. It is impossible to determine information on the original building without an architectural investigation. See Randall, page 10.

Comments

Leavitt's Hotel was enlarged several times and changed so that the building of 1841 has been entirely subsumed by its surroundings.

THE LEAVITT HOMESTEAD

This building is now a part of the Windjammer Hotel and has been surrounded by newer construction to the point that the old building is hard to discern.
